COMPETITOR ANALYSIS

CSM VS OTHERS

Analysed 10 competitor products in market : Lever, Recruitee, Workable, Hire, Hirecraft, Taleo, TalentNow, Ziprecruiter, Greenhouse and Bullhorn. Taking 6 major competitors based on popularity and and listing down features that work.

FEATURE COMPARISON CHART

For a software to work well it's important that it has features required by its intended users and those features are easy to identify and use. The core recruitment activities are job advertising/posting, candidate sourcing, candidate screening, candidate offer and joining, and activity monitoring. This broad categorisation of recruitment activities has a number of tasks associated with each activity. For example candidate sourcing requires access to multiple candidate sources/channels, communication between recruiter and these channels or directly candidates, emailing, notifications, reminders and scheduling... Thus an ATS must include features to help its users accomplish these tasks.

With a large number of ATS available in the market it is difficult to understand which one works better than the other. An easy way to compare these systems is through a comparison table. Comparison tables can be used for both quantitative or qualitative analysis. The Qualitative Product Comparison table compares products in a rudimentary way. The features of each product for each competitor are listed and compared. The "best" product feature receives a score of 1, while the other product receive a score of 0. In Quantitative Product Comparison table each feature listed in the table for each competitor is assigned a weight designating its relative importance. Scores from 1 to 10 are given to each product at the feature level. The total score is tallied by summing the results of each weight multiplied by the score.

The feature comparison table on the right is a qualitative comparison table '√' represents the feature is working well and '-' represents either it's absent or not working well. The feature list is prepared based on the common features across different Applicant Tracking System. Features include user onboarding (tips and hints on how to use the system for new users), alerts and notifications for various activities, easy candidate sourcing and pipeline management, interview management, email integration, easy communication (chat, notes, feedback and comments), quick actions (quick access to frequent operations), client management (for consultancies), customisation options and overall visual appeal of the software.
